New Mexicans Can File Their Personal Income Tax Returns Online Starting Today

SANTA FE – New Mexicans can begin filing their 2010 state personal income tax returns online starting Wednesday, Jan. 19, the state tax department announced today.

This is the 23rd year that some form of E-Filing has been available to New Mexico taxpayers.

“E-filing is safe, secure and fast, and most importantly it’s easy to use with instant confirmation process,” said Demesia Padilla, Secretary-Designate of the New Mexico Taxation and Revenue Department. “I want to encourage everyone to file their tax returns online. Not only will you receive your refund check faster, we can also deposit your refund check into your personal checking or savings account.”

The deadline for taxpayers filing paper returns is April 18, 2011. The deadline for E-filers that also pay online is extended until May 2, 2011. New Mexicans can file their tax returns online by going to www.tax.state.nm.us.
